The program was inaugurated by the Principal, Dr. Dominic Thomas. Deepu Jose K, the Head of the Department, delivered presidential address and explained the purpose and significance of the ‘Embryo’ program. Dr. Sajesh T.J., the IQAC Coordinator, delivered the felicitation address. Previn P.F., a faculty member from the department, delivered the welcome speech.

The highlight of the event was the screening of various student production works. These productions showcased the talent, creativity and technical skills of the MA Journalism and Mass Communication students. The audience, comprising faculty members and first-year students, thoroughly enjoyed the diverse array of films and projects presented.

Reel Contest During Onam Celebrations

25/08/2023

During the Onam celebrations, the Department of Communication and Journalism organized an exciting ‘reel’ contest titled 'Na Thaan Reel Cheyu.' This innovative contest invited students from various departments to create engaging reels that captured the essence of SES College's Onam festivities. Participants were encouraged to use their creativity and storytelling skills to highlight the vibrant traditions, cultural performances and communal spirit that define Onam at SES College.

The contest saw enthusiastic participation from students across different disciplines, each bringing their unique flair to their submissions. The reels were judged based on creativity, adherence to the theme and overall impact.

Freshers' Day Celebration

15/09/2023

The Department of Communication and Journalism celebrated its Freshers' Day, named "Journo," on the 15th of September, 2023. This event, designed to showcase the talents of the first-year students was meticulously organized by the second-year students, ensuring a warm and engaging welcome for the newcomers.

The Head of the Department, Deepu Jose K, warmly welcomed the new students to the department. In his speech, he highlighted the department's commitment to fostering a nurturing and dynamic environment for aspiring journalists and mass communicators. Faculty members Previn F and Sanish M S took the stage to provide insights into the nature of the department and the significance of the course. They elaborated on the various facets of journalism and mass communication, emphasizing the department's focus on practical experience, critical thinking and ethical reporting. The event was eloquently anchored by Vismaya Prakash, second year student.

The event not only highlighted the talents of the new students but also set a positive tone for their journey in the MA Journalism and Mass Communication program.

Women's Day Celebration

Debate Competition on Gender Neutrality

8/3/ 2024

As part of the Women's Day celebrations, the Communication and Journalism Department organized a debate on the topic of "Gender Neutrality" on March 8, 2024. The event took place in the MCJ Seminar Hall and saw active participation from the first-year MCJ batch.

The debate focused on the concept of gender neutrality, discussing its implications, benefits and challenges in contemporary society. This topic was chosen to align with the theme of Women's Day, emphasizing equality and inclusivity.

Students from the first-year MCJ batch participated enthusiastically, showcasing their debating skills and engaging in a thought-provoking discussion.

The debate on gender neutrality was a resounding success, providing a platform for students to articulate their views and engage in constructive discussion. The event not only highlighted the diverse opinions on gender neutrality but also reinforced the importance of dialogue and critical thinking in addressing contemporary issues. The debate on gender neutrality, held on Women's Day, underscored the department's commitment to fostering an inclusive and thought-provoking academic environment.

Visit to Radio Mango

11/10/2023

Students from the Communication and Journalism Department were selected to visit Radio Mango.

On October 11, 2023, they visited Radio Mango from 10 AM to 2 PM. This visit aimed to provide students with a practical understanding of radio broadcasting and production.

The following students participated in the visit:

Marya Kuriakose, Anjali Krishnan, Najma Nazar, Ashrya V, Lijitha M and Arika K.

The visit began with an engaging discussion with the Radio Jockeys (RJs) of Radio Mango. The RJs shared their experiences, challenges and insights into the world of radio broadcasting. The technical staff explained the processes involved in ensuring high-quality audio output and the importance of maintaining technical precision. A highlight of the visit was a talk show program hosted by one of the RJs, in which the students participated. They experienced firsthand how a live talk show is conducted, including the preparation, scripting and on-air dynamics. This interactive session allowed students to understand the flow of a live broadcast and the spontaneity required in such settings.

National Cinema Day is an annual celebration aimed at appreciating the art of cinema and its impact on society. After the screening, the students gathered for a discussion and review session moderated by a faculty member. The session aimed to deepen the students' understanding of the film and its cinematic elements

Participation in Speak for India Debate Competition

Mathrubhumi Newspaper in collaboration with Federal Bank

The Communication and Journalism Department is proud to say the participation of its students in the prestigious ‘Speak for India’ debate competition. This event, organized by Mathrubhumi Newspaper in collaboration with Federal Bank, is a significant platform for young debaters to showcase their skills and engage in meaningful discourse on various social issues.

Four students from the department actively participated in the competition: Anamika CK, Marya Kuriakose, Arika K, Vismaya M

Social Responsibility Program

The ‘Speak for India’ debate competition is not only a platform for intellectual exchange but also a social responsibility program. It aims to foster critical thinking, public speaking skills and social awareness among the youth. The participation of our students aligns with the department's commitment to social extension and community engagement. The topics included matters related to social justice, environmental sustainability, economic policies and technological impacts on society.

The students' involvement in this social responsibility program highlights the importance of engaging with community issues and using their voices to advocate for positive change.

Adding a Human Touch to Journalism

30/1/2024

On January 30, 2024, the Communication and Journalism Department was honored to host an enlightening session titled "Adding a Human Touch to Journalism," led by Prejin, a notable alumnus of our department and an accomplished journalist, working at Malayala Manorama. The session was specifically designed for first year MAJMC students to enhance their understanding of empathetic and human-centered journalism.

The session was warmly welcomed by Sanish M.S., Assistant Professor in the department, who introduced Prejin and highlighted the importance of the session's theme in contemporary journalism. Previn P.F., Assistant Professor, felicitated the session and appreciated Prejin’s willingness to share his knowledge with the students.

Prejin's interactive style kept the students engaged throughout the session, encouraging them to participate actively in discussions and exercises.

Gender Sanitisation on Media

27 /02/2024

Venue: Communication and Journalism Department Lab

On February 27, 2024, Communication and Journalism Department had an insightful session on ‘Gender Sanitisation on Media.’ The session was led by Anu Devesia a distinguished alumna of the department and media person working at Mathrubhumi Online.

The session was attended by the first and second-year MAJMC students, eager to gain deeper insights into the critical issue of gender representation in media. The session was highly interactive. Anu Devesia encourages students to actively participate and share their viewpoints. This interactive approach facilitated a deeper understanding of the concepts discussed. Anu’s journey and achievements served as an inspiration to the students, highlighting the impact that one can have in the field of media

It not only provided valuable insights into gender representation in media but also empowered students to contribute positively to the field.

Media Fest of the Communication and Journalism Department ‘etc’

25/03/ 2024

The Media Fest ‘etc’ organized by the Communication and Journalism Department of SES College took place on March 25, 2024, with great enthusiasm and participation from students across various departments. The event was inaugurated by Chandrashekaran Nair, Programme Manager of Radio Mango Kannur station, who also conducted an insightful session on the power of radio, its opportunities and its role as a societal tool. His expertise in the field provided valuable insights to the attendees.

Dr. Dominic Thomas the Principal of SES College delivered the presidential address setting the tone for the fest with his encouraging words. The welcome speech was delivered by Deepu Jose K highlighting the significance of the event in fostering creativity and learning among students. Student coordinators Shada M and Maria Kuriakose played pivotal roles in organizing and managing the fest ensuring its smooth execution.

The fest featured a variety of contests aimed at showcasing the talents of the participants. These included a treasure hunt, reels contest and photography contest, which attracted a total of 68 students from different departments. These contests not only provided a platform for students to exhibit their skills but also encouraged healthy competition and camaraderie among participants. As part of the fest, the critically acclaimed film "Thummbad" was screened, enriching the cultural experience of the attendees and providing a thought-provoking cinematic journey. The Media Fest of the Communication and Journalism Department was a resounding success, marked by informative sessions, creative contests and engaging cultural activities.
